Special to The Courier.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Nov. 16.—Last evening on the 9:15 car William Keen took Nick Severa to Greensburg to hold him for a hearing, before Justice of the Peace John R. Walker. Wednesday evening Nick Severa cut Jake Heller with a butcher knife, and Heller made a charge of felonious assault against Severa, who was locked up in the borough jail. Walker had but one main witness and this witness had gone to Pittsburgh, and was detained so that the hearing could not be held. Severa being taken to Greensburg was the outcome of Chief of Police John Nugent going to Justice Walker and demanding a hearing without any witnesses. When Walker refused to have the hearing until his witness came, Nugent threatened to turn the prisoner out. Walker sent for Kennell, who came later and took Severa to jail at Greensburg.

It was stated by an interpreter that Severa had said Heller was telling him of how the Germans would clean up on the Italians and that he stood for it just as long as he could and then he had to turn which he did. The hearing will likely be held today.

Had Explosion.

Last evening when Lawrence Shaw of the Diamond Garage was soldering a gasoline tank, which he had on end to drain for the past three weeks, there was an explosion that made a terrific noise, and in which three boys, Mr. Shaw, and Mr. Burge narrowly escaped being injured. Shaw had used almost all the solder that he expected to use when the tank let go, flattening out in a straight piece, and one end of the tank making a hole in the ceiling and the other tearing a hole in the side of a Ford car. The blow-torch was taken out of the hand of Shaw and he escaped with a scratch on the arm.

Notes.

Mrs. Lucinda Miller of Greensburg is the guest of friends here.

Mrs. J. B. Coldsmith spent yesterday in Conneltsville with friends.

Charles Schachte, a member of Company E, is home on a 10-day furlough.

Wilbur Long of the Machine Gun Company, 110th, arrived home last evening on a furlough.

OUCH! RUB OUT RHEUMATIC PAIN

Rub Pain, Soreness, Stiffness, Sciatica Right Out
With "St. Jacobs Oil."

Count fifty! Pain gone.

Rheumatism is "pain only." Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Stop drugging! Rub the misery right away! Apply soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" directly upon the "tender spot," and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappoints and can not burn or discolor the skin.

Limber up! Stop complaining! Get a small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, and in just a moment you'll be free from pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. "St. Jacobs Oil" has relieved millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains and swellings.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

"THE WOMAN GOD FORGOT."

Geraldine Farrar, the noted prima donna, makes her appearance today in the Artcraft production, "The Woman God Forgot." When the actress in the time of Montezuma decided that women feather cloaks were to be the sign of nobility, they did not reckon for the trouble they were to cause future generations who wish to immortalize the early days of North America on the never fading film. Geraldine Farrar was selected by Cecil DeMille to perpetuate the carrier of Tezaca, Montezuma's daughter, who for love sold her city to conqueror Spaniards under Cortes. It is upon this that Jeanie MacPherson's story is founded. For three months before the filming, the research department was at work in libraries and museums and even invaded Mexico itself, to photograph the ruins of the ancient Aztec palaces. Drawings compiled by the archeologists and historians demanded that cloaks, head-dresses, vests, and even the curtains, rugs and screens be of woven feathers. For the head-dresses, pheasant wings and the more elaborate plumage were used. Also a good Billy West comedy with be shown.

EAT WHAT YOU WANT WHEN YOU WANT IT

People who consistently deny that appetite is a powerful factor in determining health, because indulgence has always meant consequent suffering, will think this a strong statement. It is a fact, however, that most people can, without fear of disastrous consequences, induce the appetite within reason if the bowels are active and regular.

Heavy dinners and late suppers can be enjoyed with impunity if before retiring, one will take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a mild combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that digests well for fifty cents a bottle. Gentle in action and positive in effect, it regulates the bowels in an easy, natural way, without griping or other discomfort, and is the ideal family laxative. Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your druggist and keep it in the house. Use it occasionally and you will find you can eat almost anything without fear of constipation. A trial bottle can be obtained free of charge by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 456 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"MOTHER O' MINE."

A five part Bluebird photoplay in which a strong story is unfolded, is being presented by special request. Robert Fulton appears in the leading role of this great production. The story is one that brings smiles and tears. It is developed in a quiet effective manner and rounds up with a pleasing climax. The chief idea is perhaps new to the screen, through familiar in fiction. It concerns an elderly woman who comes to the city to see her son, unexpectedly, and arrives in the midst of a social affair. The son really loves his mother and is delighted to see her, but her plain, old fashioned appearance makes him just a little ashamed of her as he moves in high society and is engaged to a girl bred in the purple. Mrs. Lafayette gives a splendid portrayal of the sweet old lady, being exactly that herself to all appearances, and gets a firm hold on the sympathies. Her appearance at the reception has been carefully led up to many scenes having been shown at the old country home where she has waited a long period of years for the return of her son. Tomorrow Dick Rosson and Pauline Curley will be featured in "Casualty," a five part Triangle production. Monday Harold Lockwood will be seen in "Paradise Garden."

FOUR WEEKS IN HOSPITAL

No Relief—Mrs. Brown Finally Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio.—"For years I suffered so sometimes it seemed as though I could not stand it any longer. It was all in my lower organs. At times I could hardly walk, for if I stepped on a little stone I would almost faint. One day I did faint and my husband was so sent for and the doctor came. I was taken to the hospital and stayed four weeks but when I came home I would faint just the same and had the same pains.

A friend who is a nurse asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it that very day for I was suffering a great deal. It has already done me more good than the hospital. To anyone who is suffering as I was my advice is to stop in the first drug store and get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before you go home."—Mrs. W. C. Brown, 2344 W. 12th St., Cleveland, Ohio.

THE ARCADE.

BILLIE FORCE—A crowded house greeted Billy Force and his New York Belles at the Arcade last night and the matinee was fairly well attended. Today and tomorrow "Fun in a Cabaret" will be the offering, but it is said to be different from the average cabaret show. Without much plot the funmakers have unlimited opportunity. The opening song number will be "Suki Saa," by Miss La Belle and "Rolling Chair" by Miss Beatrice Cossell. Billy Adams will sing "Scenes From Pittsburgh" and whistle "The River Shannon." Eddie Reeves will sing an original Irish song, "Mrs. Dunn" and Sammy Spear will sing new parodies. "Honolulu Hickabob" will be sung by Miss Force and the Dancing Dorrings will be seen a new dance. Billy Force will sing "Oh, How That Woman Could Cook." The picture show will be Helen Holmes in "The Railroad Raiders." The show merits the good attendance it has been receiving this week, every member being a clever performer. Next week will be the Dixie Dancing Girls, Milt Frankford, a famous trick pianist and six wooden shoe dancers, supporting Miss Emma Frankford, the dancing southerner, and Fred Vogel, eccentric dancer and Robert Wilson, that funny little fellow.

Tries to Defraud Patriots. DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 16.—Elmer Dwigins, manager of the New York agency of the Baker Life company of Des Moines, was arrested yesterday in Montgomery Ala., on a federal warrant charging him with using the mails to defraud investors in Liberty Bonds, according to word received by officials of the company here.

T. Postlethwaite Dies. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—Edward T. Postlethwaite, assistant to the president of the Pennsylvania railroad and one of the best known railroad executives in the country, died here Wednesday of apoplexy. He was 67 years old.

CHILDREN NEED FOOD—NOT ALCOHOL

How careless it is to accept alcoholic medicine for children when everybody knows that their whole health and growth depends upon correct nourishment. If your children are pale, listless, underweight or puny, they absolutely need the special, concentrated food that only gives, to improve their nutrition and repair waste caused by youthful activity. During school term all children should be given Scott's Emulsion because it benefits their blood, sharpens their appetite and rebuilds their strength by sheer force of its great nourishing power.

Former State Secretary Dies. WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—John W. Foster, former minister to China, dean of the American diplomatic corps, and father-in-law of Secretary Lansing, died here yesterday after a long illness. At one time he was Secretary of State. The immediate cause of his death was asthmatic trouble, although his advanced years and falling health had given his family concern for more than a year.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Easier, Quicker and Without the Blister

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole. Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of out-of-date mustard plasters, and will not blister. Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, chills of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). 30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

JUST A QUESTION OF AMOUNT.

It seems most unlikely that any person having even but a different interest in the welfare of the boys, comprising Uncle Sam's fighting forces, will be able to resist the plea of the Y. M. C. A. war work. If this were a new undertaking and without a fine record of achievement to prove its inestimable worth to the soldiers, there would be some reason to hesitate before subscribing to the fund which is being raised to insure the continuance of the work on a scale commensurate with the needs of our fast growing army. It is no experiment and the soldiers, whose interests are being served by this great agency, are themselves the best judges of the value of the things being done. They are unstinted in their praise and have a very deep concern as to what the people back home will do in answering the present call for help.

"The writer is urged by all the men of the Hospital Corps," writes Scott Lyndner, the Courier's correspondent at Camp Hancock, "to say a word to impress the home people with the fact that we cannot do too much to help the cause along. The Y. M. C. A. has probably done more to help the soldier pass his few idle hours than any other organization. If anybody has money to give they could find no better place for it." This being but a sample of the testimony the boys everywhere are giving of their appreciation of the useful and necessary functions being performed by the Y. M. C. A., the question to be decided by the friends of the soldiers here at home is whether one of the annual quota has been fixed at $10,000, leaving $25,000 to be raised in the county outside of our own city. We have measured up to requirements in every instance thus far and several times have exceeded our quotas. We cannot afford to do less for the Y. M. C. A. because what we do for it will be just that much done in behalf of the boys who, in doing their bit, are giving their all.

The big cities will have to do all their "white washing" between 7:45 and 11:00 P. M. now, under orders of the Fuel Administration to save coal in making electric light. But what will they do then, before the gas lights are out?

Not every registrant can be a first class man, but all will be some class.

The balloon service is a new branch of Uncle Sam's army and of course he picked a Conneltsville boy for it. Just as he has found it necessary to have others from the First City of Fayette in every other branch.

Villa has resumed his gentle art of reducing the population of Mexico.

Until the local board of District No. 5 classified the registrants, few people were aware that one-fourth of them are aliens. Certainly no more fruitful field exists for Americanization work than right here at home. Isn't it time to get busy along this line?

The Germans do not seem to be able to get out of reach of General Defeat no matter where they attack on the Flanders front.

The new draft regulations will lessen the labors of the local boards in about the same way that carrying bricks to the top of a building relieved the Celtic carrier of the labor of laying them.

The European factory that is turning out the Petrograd rumors is working overtime.

It was welcome news here and will be no less welcome at Camp Hancock to know that Captain Morton, of Company D, has recovered sufficiently to return to his home.

In furnishing a White House "pick" Unknown enjoys a distinction which excites little envy.

It may be comforting to British war experts to believe that the German U-boat danger has broken down, but the public will take still more comfort after knowing that they have been sent down to Davy Jones' locker.

The local boards are making an appeal for help. If they need it, what must be the plight of the registrants who have to tackle that 16-page Questionnaire?

Every letter from a boy at the front or a training camp is a boost for the Y. M. C. A.

In supplying information under the new draft regulations aliens must remember that Uncle Sam is from Missouri and wants to know all about where his visitors, either casual or permanent, come from.

When Gas Masks Are Needed.

Another time when the gas masks come in handy is when the fells are making one of those old fashioned cold dinners with odoriferous turnip and cabbage.

THE NEW DRAFT REGULATIONS

Part III

Aliens Must Give Full Information

Every registrant is required to answer the first two questions under Series II which relate to physical fitness. Answer to the first question gives the registrant's height and weight, stripped. The second is, "Are you in sound health mentally and physically?" If the second question is answered "Yes," answers are not required to the remaining questions of the series which supply information concerning any ailment or physical deficiency of the registrant, as to whether he is blind, deaf, dumb, has lost a limb, is epileptic, paralytic, insane or has a withered or deformed limb; names of physicians by whom treated within the last 12 months; nature of ailment and name and location of the asylum, hospital or other institution where treatment has been received on account of any physical, mental or nervous disease, disorder or injury.

Series III is intended to give information relating to legislative, executive offices held by registrants. If they hold no such office the first question only is to be answered and that by "No." If an office-holder the remaining questions, giving exact designation of the office, date when duties were entered upon and when they will cease, are required to be answered.

If a regular or duly ordained minister of religion the registrant will answer the first question under Series IV by "Yes" and also the others giving manner, date and place of becoming a minister; place and nature of religious labors on June 5, 1917 and now, and character of any additional occupation followed.

Divinity students will declare, under Series V, that they were preparing for the ministry on May 18, 1917, and give the name and location of all the divinity schools they have attended, and state if any school attended is wholly or partially a correspondence school.

If the registrant has ceased to be a divinity student his present occupation must be stated. His answers must bear the supporting affidavit of an officer of the school attended.

If at present in the military or naval service of the United States the registrant will give, under Series VI, the rank, organization or corps and branch to which he is attached and mail address and also state the date, place and manner of entering the service.

The citizenship of registrants is the subject of the questions under Series VII. If a citizen, no question but the first need be answered, and that answer will be "Yes." If not a citizen the following question must also be answered:

Do you claim exemption from military service because you are not a citizen?

If you answer "No" to this question, other questions need not be answered. If you answer "Yes," these questions must be answered:

Where and on what date were you born?

On what date and place did you arrive in this country?

By what vessel or other means did you enter this country?

From what place did you come?

Did you come to this country with your parents?

Have either of your parents been naturalized in the United States?

Have you ever voted or registered for voting anywhere in the United States? If so, where?

Have you ever taken out first papers? If so, where?

Are you willing to return to your native country and enter its military service?

Series VIII consist of questions to be answered only by county and municipal officials, federal employees, pilots and mariners. Registrants who are members of a religious sect or organization whose creed forbids participation in war, will establish the fact of their membership, date and place of organization of their local church, date of taking membership; number of adherents of the sect in the United States and the date of the adoption of opposition to war as part of the sect's creed, by answers to the questions under Series IX.

Just Folks

Edgar A. Goest.

THE HAPPIEST WAY.

There is so much to know, so little time to learn;
So many ways to life's road, one wonders which to turn.
This one may lead to pleasure gay, and this to wisdom true.
And this, if we would follow it might lead to friendships new.
Yet none can ever tread them all, nor drain life's cup of bliss.
Chance leads us to the joys we find and past the joys we miss.
We know that some paths lead to shame, and some to grief and woe.
But there are byways, here and there, whose ends we'll never know.
And there are roads we'd like to tread, but duty spurs us on.
And there are goals we'd like to reach, yet we must strive for one.
Not all of life is ours to know, not all its work we do.
The race of men to come shall learn some truths we never knew.
At best we blindly rush along, in haste we love to spare.
And what we miss another claims and gives in his turn.
There is so much to know, so little time to choose.
For every joy we win from life we pay with joys we lose.
No one of mortal clay has solved the secret of life's plan.
The happiest way is for us all to do the best we can.

There is a wonderful array of shoes for men, women, and children in our shoe departments. There are special designed styles and winter weights for women and misses; there are special designed styles for men and boys, winter styles, heavy double soles. The prices of shoes are high, everybody knows that, but we do assert and can prove that our prices are fair, reasonable, and lower than most opposition. These are plain facts and that's enough.

MISS ANNA LYNCH IS THE BRIDE OF ANDREW DOORLEY

Well-Known Young Couple of Scottsdale Married Yesterday.

MORE DRAFTTEES CERTIFIED

List of Men to Go, With Next Quota From Scottsdale and East Huntingdon Given Out; Bank Makes Appeal for Pennies to Relieve Shortage.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, Nov. 16.—Miss Anna Carter Lynch, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lynch of Arthur Avenue, and Andrew P. Doorley were married yesterday morning at nine o'clock in St. John, the Baptist church, the Rev. Father M. A. Lambing presiding at the nuptial mass. The attendants were Miss Kathlyn L. McAuliffe, a sister of the bride and Frank Doorley, a brother of the groom. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Thomas J. Lynch. Guests were present at the church ceremony from Pittsburgh, Greensburg, Conneltsville, Uniontown and Morgantown. Following the ceremony a breakfast was served at the bride's home. Covers were laid for fourteen. Out of town guests were Mrs. Joseph Wentling, Miss Sara Lynch of Greensburg, Miss Kathryn Carter and Miss Margaret Cray of Uniontown. The bride wore a suit of silk tulle, hand embroidered and trimmed in seal. She wore a large black hat of silk velvet and net and trimmed in bands. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The young couple left at noon yesterday for a two weeks trip that will include New York City, Philadelphia, Atlantic City and Washington. After December 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Doorley will be at home at their newly furnished home in the Hurst apartments. Mr. Doorley is at present a member of the McFarland Lumber company at Indian Creek, Pa.

Drafttees Certified.

The men certified to go with the next drafted men from Scottsdale and East Huntingdon Township are, Scottsdale: Francis Hamaan, Becker, William Robinson, Orton Morrow, John Ewing, Armstrongs, Charles, James Warner and Wendell J. Moyer. All veterans: William Robert Belling, Tarr, George Blinke, George Tallentire, John Verosko, Burl C. Beth and Charles Shibeck. Ruffsdale: Edgar Raymond Poryscho, William H. Hodges, and Edwin Smith Steele.

Bank Wants Pennies.

The Scottsdale Trust company has asked that all persons who have savings accounts with the trust company and who have any nickels or pennies in their banks turn them into the bank and get larger money for them, so that they can be put into circulation and help relieve the shortage in small change.

Nursing the Wounded

It takes strength and courage to nurse the wounded. Every woman should make herself fit for war's call at home or abroad. Health and strength are within the reach of every woman. They are brought to you by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Take this medicine, and there's a safe and certain remedy for the chronic weaknesses, derangements and diseases peculiar to the sex. It will build up, strengthen, and invigorate every "run-down" or debilitated woman. It regulates and assists the natural functions.

If you're a tired or afflicted woman turn to "Favorite Prescription," you will find it never fails to benefit. Sold in tablet or liquid form. Send Dr. Pierce, Pres. Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., 100 for trial pkg. tablets.

A PROMINENT NURSE

MANY NURSES IN PA. SAY THE SAME

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—"When I get a cold and have pains through my lungs, I resort to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which I cannot praise enough.

"As for the 'Favorite Prescription,' I never have a case of expectorancy that I do not recommend it. They all say they would not do without it.

"As for Dr. Pierce's latest medicine—the 'Annie,' my kidneys and back were so bad that I had to turn down several cases. After taking a trial package, I got a bottle of the Annie Tablets, double strength. And the relief was wonderful. I am relieved of the backache and the excretion is healthy looking. I am feeling fine.

"As for the 'Pleasant Pellets' when I feel dizzy and drowsy and get the blues, I go for the 'Pellets' and in 24 hours I am feeling fine. They are the best cure for liver trouble and indigestion.

"I could go on with praise of Dr. Pierce's valuable remedies, but space will not permit. If anyone calls on me I can tell it better than I can write."

Mrs. LUCIA BARRETT, 1670 Seaview St.

A Wonderful Ointment is Gingerole

The Gingerole Co.

For the enclosed stamps kindly send to my address Gingerole. It is a wonderful ointment. I have used it with splendid success and am advertising it to my many friends.

Also send me a number of leaflets to give to my pupils to take home.

Sister M. Agatha, O. S. B., St. Boniface Convent, Hammet, Pa. Via Erie, R. F. D. No. 7.

For 25 cents you can get a big package of Gingerole and druggists will tell you that it is not better than any plaster, liniment or ointment you ever used, money back. There surely is nothing so good on earth for sprains, strains, bruises, bunions, callouses, chilblains or frost feet. Just rub it on; it will not blister. Gingerole absorbs instantly, is very penetrating and that's why it only takes a few minutes to get rid of earache, headache, toothache, backache and neuralgia.

Gingerole is for sale and recommended by Conneltsville Drug Co. and all first class druggists.

ladies of Everson who are members of the Pythian Sisters at her Everson home with a masquerade. Games were played, and some very nice music was rendered during the evening. Refreshments were served.

Thanksgiving Dance

Invitations are out for a Thanksgiving dance to be given in the Reid Hall on Friday November 23rd. The hours are from eight to twelve, and Kieferle's orchestra will furnish the music. The committee in charge is F. J. Doorley, Joseph A. Yabner, and Robert J. Miller.

Class Has Meeting.

Mrs. William Anderson entertained the Standard Bearers at her home last evening. Following the program, there was refreshments and a very pleasant social hour.

Confers on Explosive Act.

Walter H. Glasgow of the H. C. Frick Coke Company is in Washington in conference with government men on the matter of the use of explosives in the mining regions of this country. An effort will be made to restrict the use of high explosives and it is probable that Mr. Glasgow will be placed at the head of the commission for this state.

Mrs. Albright (Farming Home).

Charles Albright of the St. C. Frick offices left yesterday for Cumberland Md., to bring home his wife who became ill and underwent an operation for appendicitis, three weeks ago while the Albrights were on an auto tour during their vacation.

Takes New Job.

Walter Rice has accepted a position in Greensburg and left yesterday to take up his new position there.

Sugar Shortage Severe.

Scottsdale still is experiencing a shortage in sugar and yesterday so that clerks would not have to answer the question as to whether they had sugar or not, notices were posted in the windows "This grocery has no sugar."

Bowling League.

Pitt is leading in the Inter-Collegiate Bowling League of Scottsdale with a percentage of 833, winning five games and losing one. Tech won four and lost two, and have a percentage of .667. Penn is tied with Tech for second place; won two games and lost one game, having a percentage of .667.

For Sale.

5 room house, over one acre ground, ten minutes walk from street car line for $1,000.00. E. F. DeWitt—Adv. 15-31.

Notes.

Mrs. Carver of Charleston S. C. is the guest of her son George E. Carver in Conneltsville with friends.

Mrs. Paul Hammer of Greensburg is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. H. Marvin.

Mrs. Clyde Newcomer of Cleveland Ohio is the guest of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Muir.

CONNELLSVILLE BANKER'S FRIENDS ELATED

"Twelve years ago I became afflicted with stomach trouble which steadily became worse until 2 years ago I frequently became prostrated with colic attacks and bloating. My doctors wanted to operate for gall stones. I wished to avoid an operation and on advice of a friend tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy with excellent results, as since taking it about 2 years ago my trouble has entirely disappeared. It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and always the inflammation which causes practically all stomach liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One case will convince you of money refunded. A. A. Carver—Adv.

MAN MISSING

John W. Wilson Disappears Completely: Foul Play Feared.

John W. Wilson has been missing since Saturday night. His family unable to find any trace of him, suspect that he was a victim of foul play.

Wilson lives on a farm some two miles from Juniata, but had worked for years as a carpenter at Elm Grove. On Saturday night, he made it a practice to stop in Conneltsville on his way from work, purchase food and provisions and do other shopping, and then go to his home. Saturday night he was seen here, with a basketful of stuff by several people. It seems that he got on the car, left at the Juniata stop, and was seen no more. Wilson's family has been searching for him throughout the county. No undertaker has received his body, and he is not in the Uniontown jail, as one report received by Mrs. Wilson declared.

Miss Ransel Stricken.

While visiting her sister, Mrs. Earl Keslar, Miss Marie Ransel of Pittsburgh, 17 years old, suffered an attack of appendicitis. She was removed to the Cottage State hospital, undergoing an operation last night.

BANISH CATARRH

Breathe Hyonol for Two Minutes and Strained Eye Head Will Get Relief.

If you want to get relief from catarrh, cold in the head or from an irritating cough in the shortest time breathe Hyonol.

It will clean out your head in two minutes and allow you to breathe freely.

Hyonol will end a cold in one day. It will relieve you of sneezing, sniffles, hawking, spitting and offensive breath in a week.

Hyonol is made chiefly from a soothing, healing, germ killing antiseptic, that comes from the eucalyptus forests of inland Australia where catarrh, asthma and consumption were never known to exist.

Hyonol is pleasant and easy to breathe. Just pour a few drops into the hard rubber inhaler, use as directed, and relief is almost certain.

A complete Hyonol outfit, including inhaler and one bottle of Hyonol, costs but little at druggists everywhere and at A. A. Clarke's. If you already own an inhaler you can have a complete outfit of Hyonol at druggists—Adv.

SHOW IS GOOD

Large Audiences View Opening Road Attraction at Solisun.

Two large audiences, at both matinee and evening performance were well pleased with "The Marriage Question" at the Solisun Theatre yesterday. The house was packed to capacity both times and in the evening the S. R. O. sign was out. The play came up to all expectations.

"The Marriage Question" was full of the seriousness of life, with matrimony as the theme, but it was not without its humor. The atmosphere of restraint that shrouded "Billie" and her husband, James Cantwell Hudson, keeping them apart after the first day, when the young wife confessed that she only married for money, was pathetic. The bright side of matrimony, where love alone held sway was shown by Marjory Daw, Billie's young sister and her sweetheart, Teddy Summers, private secretary to Mr. Hudson, when they frequently got into one of their love "spats."

The play ended after Billie's baby, James Cantwell Hudson, Jr., was born, and the father and wife were reunited.

What Physicians Prescribe for Nerves

The Use of Organic Phosphorus.

Something over sixty years ago Penzance, a French scientist, discovered a form of organic phosphorus which, when taken into the human system, was quickly converted into nerve tissue. Nearly half a century later Robin, a distinguished French physician, began a scientific investigation of the use of this organic phosphorus and its effect upon the human system, with results that amazed the scientific and medical world, and today it is an admitted fact that in the treatment of those ailments, directly or indirectly due to depleted nervous vitality, such as neurasthenia, nervous weakness, premature old age, insomnia, lack of energy, fatigue, nervous debility, thinness, etc., it is unequalled. Today physicians and hospitals everywhere recognize its merits by its use in ever increasing quantities. It is therefore a matter of more than ordinary interest to all such sufferers to learn that this organic nerve building phosphorus is now obtainable at drugists everywhere in the form of 5-grain tablets of pure bitro-phosphate, at a cost so low as to be within the reach of everyone. One of these tablets should be taken with each meal, and the results in many instances are little short of marvellous. Dull eyes become bright, sleep is restored to the sleepless, the nerves regain their strength, thin people put on flesh, and the whole system becomes charged with that strength, vitality and energy which make life so truly worth while.—Adv.

Loosening the rope at his waist, he tossed the noose over one of the sharpened posts that composed the palisade. A moment later his eyes were above the level of the obstacles, taking in all within their range beyond. There was no one in sight close by, and Korak drew himself to the top and dropped lightly to the ground within the enclosure.

Then he commenced his stealthy search of the village. First toward the Arab tents he made his way, sniffing and listening. He passed behind them, searching for some sign of Meriem. Not even the wild Arab curs heard his passage, so silently he went—a shadow passing through shadows.

Naked but for his leopard skin and his loin cloth, Korak the killer stalked into the shadows at the back of the tent, where his keen scent told him Meriem was. His sharp knife slit a six foot opening in the tent wall, and Korak, tall and mighty, sprang through upon the astonished visions of the inmates.

Meriem saw and recognized him the instant that he entered the apartment. Her heart leaped in pride and joy at the sight of the noble figure for which it had hungered so long.

"Korak!" she cried.

"Meriem!" he uttered the single word as he hurried forward upon the inmates of the tent. Three negroes, screaming, Meriem tried to prevent them from escaping, but before she could succeed the terrified blacks had darted through the hole in the tent wall made by Korak's knife and were gone screaming through the village.

Korak turned toward Meriem, and at the same moment a bloody and disheveled apparition leaped into the apartment.

"Morison!" cried the girl.

For it was Baynes, who, despite his wounds, had made his way to the sheik's village.

Korak turned and looked at the newcomer. He had been about to take Meriem in his arms forgetful of all that might have transpired since last he had seen her. Then the coming of the young Englishman recalled the scene he had witnessed in the little clearing, and a wave of misery swept over the ape man.

Already from without came the sounds of the alarm that the three negresses had started. Men were running toward the tent. There was no time to be lost.

Her Heart Leaped in Pride and Joy, "Korak!" She Cried.

"Quick!" cried Korak, turning toward Baynes, who had scarce yet realized whether he was facing a friend or foe. "Take her to the palisade, following the rear of the tents. Here is my rope. With it you can scale the wall and make your escape."

"But you, Korak?" cried Meriem.

"I will remain," replied the ape man. "I have business with the sheik."

Meriem would have demurred, but the killer seized them both by the shoulders and hustled them through the slit wall and out into the shadows beyond.

"Now run for it," he admonished and turned to meet and hold those who were pouring into the tent from the front.

The ape man fought well, fought as he had never fought before, but the odds were too great for victory, though he won that which he most craved—time for the Englishman to escape with Meriem.

Then he was overwhelmed by numbers, and a few minutes later, bound and gagged, he was carried to the sheik's tent.

The old man eyed him in silence for a long time. He was trying to fix in his own mind some form of torture that would gratify his rage and hatred toward this creature, who had had been the means of his losing possession of Meriem.

And as he sat there looking upon Korak the silence was broken by the clumping of an elephant in the jungle beyond the palisade. A half smile touched Korak's lips. He turned his head a trifle in the direction from which the sound had come, and then there broke from his lips a low, hoarse call.

One of the blacks guarding him struck him across the mouth with the butt of his spear. But none there knew the significance of his cry.

In the jungle Tantor caught his ears as the sound of Korak's voice came upon them. He approached the palisade and, lifting his trunk above it, sniffed. Then he placed his head against the wooden logs and pushed, but the palisade was strong and gave out, a little to the pressure.

In the sheik's tent the staff rose at last and, pausing toward the bound captive, turned to one of his tentants.

"Supper," he commanded, "at once! The sheik is set."

Meriem, dazed by the unexpected sight of Korak, whom she had long given up as dead, permitted herself to be led away by Baynes. Among the tents he guided her safely to the palisade, and there, following Korak's instructions, the Englishman pitched a noose over the top of one of the upright logs that formed the barrier. With difficulty he reached the top and then lowered his hand to assist Meriem to his side.

"Come," he whispered. "We must hurry."

And then, as though she had awakened from a sleep, Meriem came to herself. Back there, fighting her enemies alone, was Korak—her Korak! Her place was by his side, fighting with him and for him.

She glanced up at Baynes.

"Go!" she urged. "Take your way back to Bwana and bring help. My place is here. You can do no good remaining. Get away while you can and bring the big Bwana back with you."

Silently the Hon. Morison Baynes slid to the ground inside the palisade to Meriem's side.

"It was only for you that I left him," he said, nodding toward the tents they had just left. "I knew that he could hold them longer than I and give you a chance to escape that I might not be able to have given you. It was I, though, who should have remained. I heard you call him Korak, and so I knew who he is."

As they stood there for the moment of their conversation the sounds of pursuit in the village subsided.

"They have killed him!" whispered Meriem.

The statement brought Baynes to a realization of the cause of their return.

"Wait here," he said. "I will go and see. If he is dead we can do him no good. If he lives I will do my best to free him."

"We will go together," replied Meriem. "Come!" And she led the way back toward the tent in which they had last seen Korak.

As they went there were often forced to throw themselves to the ground in the shadow of a tent or hut, for people were passing hurriedly to and fro now. The whole village was aroused and moving about. The return to the tent of the sheik took much longer than had after their swift flight to the palisade.

Cautionally they crept to the slit that Korak's knife had made in the rear wall. Meriem peered inside. The rear apartment was empty. She crawled through the aperture, Baynes at her heels, and then silently crossed the space to the rugs that partitioned the tent into two rooms. Parting the hangings, Meriem looked into the front room. It, too, was deserted.

She crossed to the door of the tent and looked out. Then she gave a little gasp of horror. Baynes at her shoulder looked past her to the elg that had startled her, and he, too, exclaimed, but his was an oath of anger.

A hundred feet away they saw Korak bound to a stake, the brush piled about him already aflame. The Englishman pushed Meriem to one side and started on a run for the doomed man. What he could do in the face of scores of hostile blacks and Arabs he did not mean to consider.

At the same instant Tantor broke through the palisade and charged the group. In the face of the mad-demon beast the crowd turned and fled, carrying Baynes backward with them.

Tantor wrapped his trunk about the body of Korak and the stake to which it was bound and tore it from the ground. Lifting his burden high above his head, the giant beast whirled and reared for the bridge he had just made in the palisade. The snarl, rattle in hand, rushed directly in the path of the mad-demon brute. He raised his weapon and fired once. The bullet missed its mark, and Tantor was upon him, crushing him beneath his gigantic feet as he reared over him. And then, heaving his burden carefully, Tantor, the elephant, entered the blackness of the jungle.

In a moment it was all over, and the elephant had disappeared with his prize, but pandemonium reigned throughout the village. Men, women and children ran hither and thither for safety. Curs died, yelping. The horses and camels and donkeys, terrorized by the trumpeting of the pachyderm, kicked and pulled at their owners.

A dozen or more broke loose, and in the galloping of those past him that brought a sudden idea into Baynes' head. He turned to search for Meriem, only to find her at his elbow.

"The horses!" he cried. "If we can get a couple of them!"

Filled with the idea, Meriem led him to the far end of the village.

"Loosen two of them," she said, "and lead them back into the shadows behind these huts. I know where there are saddles. I will bring them and the bridles," and before he could stop her she was gone.

Baynes quickly untied two of the frightened animals and led them to the point designated by Meriem. There he waited patiently for what seemed an hour, but was in reality but a few minutes. Then he saw the girl approaching beneath the burden of two saddles.

Quickly they placed these upon the horses. They could see by the light of the bonfire that still burned that the blacks and Arabs were recovering from their panic. Men were pointing about gathering in the loose stock, and two or three were already leading their captives back to the end of the village where Meriem and Baynes were busy with the trappings of their mounts.

Now the girl flung herself into the saddle.

"Hurry!" she whispered. "We shall have to run for it. Ride through the gap that the elephant made." And as she saw Baynes swing his leg over the back of his horse she shook the reins free over her mount's neck. With a huge nervous bound leaped forward. The shortest path led straight through the center of the village, and this Meriem took. Baynes was close behind her, their horses running at full speed.

So sudden and impetuous was their dash for liberty that it carried them half way across the village before the surprised inhabitants were aware of what was happening. Then an Arab recognized them and, with a cry of alarm, raised his rifle and fired.

The shot was a signal for a volley, and amid the rattle of musketry Meriem and Baynes leaped their flying mounts through the breach in the palisade and were gone up the well worn trail toward the north.

CHAPTER XVII.

Tantor Returns.

And Korak?

Tantor carried him deep into the jungle, nor passed until no sound from the distant village reached his keen ears. Then he laid his burden gently down. Korak struggled to free himself from his bonds, but even his great strength was unable to cope with the many strands of hard knotted cord that bound him.

And while he struggled through the night with his bonds Baynes and Meriem were riding rapidly northward along the river. The girl had assured Baynes that Korak was safe in the jungle with Tantor. It had not occurred to her that the ape man might not be able to burst his bonds. Baynes had been wounded by a shot from the rifle of one of the Arabs, and the girl wanted to get him back to Bwana's home, where he could be properly cared for.

"Then," she said, "I shall get Bwana to come with me and search for Korak. He must come and live with us."

All night they rode, and the day was still young when they came suddenly upon a party hurrying southward. It was Bwana himself and his sick, black warriors.

At sight of Baynes the big Englishman's brows contracted in a scowl, but he waited to hear Meriem's story before giving vent to the long pent anger in his breast. When she had finished he seemed to have forgotten Baynes. His thoughts were occupied with another subject.

"You say that you found Korak?" he asked. "You really saw him?"

"Yes," replied Meriem; "as plainly as I see you, and I want you to come with me, Bwana, and help me find him again."

"You really saw him?" he asked. "You really saw him?"

MRS. JOS. BROWN IS VERY GRATEFUL TO GEO. H. DAVY

Druggist Did Suffering Woman a Good Turn When He Sold Her Nerv-Worth.

The following entirely new signed statement, given by a well known resident of Butler county, Pa., gives an extraordinary account of the wonderful power of Nerv-Worth:

George H. Davy—I wish to state that my general condition is improved wonderfully. Before taking Nerv-Worth I could not sleep or rest at night. Now my rest is perfect. I also was afflicted with erysipelas, which would come at stated intervals, but now that condition has been overcome. My heart was bad, caused by spleen being strained and now that difficulty has been overcome. I cannot say too much in praise of Nerv-Worth and feel that I can never be without it. Am also very grateful to Mr. Davy for recommending the same.

Mrs. Joseph Brown, Route 1, Kenfrew, Pa. The Connelville Drug Co., sells Nerv-Worth in Connelville. Your dollar back if this famous family tonic does not help you.

Time was delicious with fever.

Meriem, shedding the awkward Arab robe they had given her in the sheik's house, needed in riding breeches and barefoot straight back toward the point where she knew the elephant had buried her in the forest east of the sheik's village. She moved silently and swiftly. From her mind she had expunged all thoughts other than that she must reach Korak and bring him back with her.

Now there came to her sensitive nostrils the scent of Tantor, and she knew that she was on the right trail and close to him she sought. She did not call out, because she wished to surprise him, and presently she did, breaking into sight of them as the great elephant shuffled ahead, balancing the man and the heavy stake upon his head, holding them there with his up-curved trunk.

"Korak!" cried Meriem from the foliage above him.

Instantly the bull swung about, lowered his burden to the ground and, clumping eagerly, prepared to defend his comrade. The ape man, recognizing the girl's voice, felt a sudden jump in his throat.

"Meriem!" he called back to her. Happily the girl clambered to the ground and ran forward to release Korak. But Tantor lowered his head ominously and trumpeted a warning.

"Go back! Go back!" cried Korak. "He will kill you!"

Meriem was almost at Korak's side when Tantor saw a long knife in her hand, and then he broke forth, bellowing hoarsely, and charged down upon the frail girl.

Korak screamed commands to his huge protector in an effort to halt him, but all to no avail. Meriem raced toward the bordering trees with all the speed that lay in her swift little feet, but Tantor, for all his huge bulk, drove down upon her with the rapidity of an express train.

What was that? Korak's eyes started from their sockets. A strange figure had leaped from the tree the shade of which Meriem already had reached—leaped beyond the girl straight into the path of the charging elephant.

It was a half naked white giant. Across his shoulder a coil of rope was looped. In the hand of his girdle-string was a hunting knife.

A sharp command broke from the stranger's lips. The great beast halted in his tracks, and Meriem swung herself upward into the tree to safety.

Korak breathed a sigh of relief, not unmixed with wonder. He fastened his eyes upon the face of Meriem's deliverer, and as recognition slowly filtered into his understanding they went wide in incredulity and surprise. Tantor, still reeling angrily, stood away to the left and before the giant white man.

Then the latter stepped straight beneath the upraised trunk and spoke a low word of command. The great beast ceased his muttering. The savage light died from his eyes, and as the stranger stepped forward toward Korak, Tantor trailed docilely at his heels.

Meriem was watching, too, and wondering. Suddenly the man turned toward her.

"Come, Meriem!" he called. And then he recognized him with a startled "Bwana!"

"Jack!" cried the white giant, kneeling at the ape man's side.

"Father!" came cheerily from the killer's lips. "Thank God that it was you! No one else in all the jungle could have stopped Tantor."

Quickly the man cut the bonds that held Korak, and as the youth struggled weakly to his feet and threw his arms about his father, the older man turned toward Meriem.

"I thought," he said, sternly, "that I told you to return to the farm."

TRADE IS LOOKING FOR INCREASED OFFERINGS COKE IN OPEN MARKET

Since the Silly Quibble Over Legality of Price Has Been Quelled.

TRADE HAS A TALK TOPIC

Over the Meaning of "Coke Made in Open Market" Product Recovery, "Expect Different Price This Week," Coal Situation Unimproved

Special to The Weekly Courier
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 14. The coal trade in a few quarters that the $6.00 coke price was not legal, set having been disposed of by the Fuel Administration making it a formal order under date of November 9. The trade is now watching to see whether the offering of coke in the open market will increase. Thus far there has been no improvement and the coal situation is still a puzzle. Some operators are stating to have observed in the past few days that they would soon have to offer coke at the set price as they contracts would not immediately absorb all the production.

The Fuel Administration order sets prices as follows: Blast furnace coke $6.00; house coke $5.00; steam coke $4.00; and coke over 1 inch $3.50. The market remains quietable at $2.25 for slack, $2.50 for mine run and $2.75 for screened per ton at mine. Prices at district the highest price applying to sales made by brokers. The pig iron market has been rather quiet the past week. There is considerable inquiry from occasional buyers of Bessemer and basic iron, including expert buyers and this inquiry is not all satisfied by any means on the fuel market. Some quarters the inquiry is considered possible that a product coke as a whole is not in the order. As a rule the coke made at a distance from the coal and in that respect would be called to a higher price than the coke made at the mine while on the other hand it is limited to a few at once it would undersell the coke in many cases on account of there being a greater freight on the business.

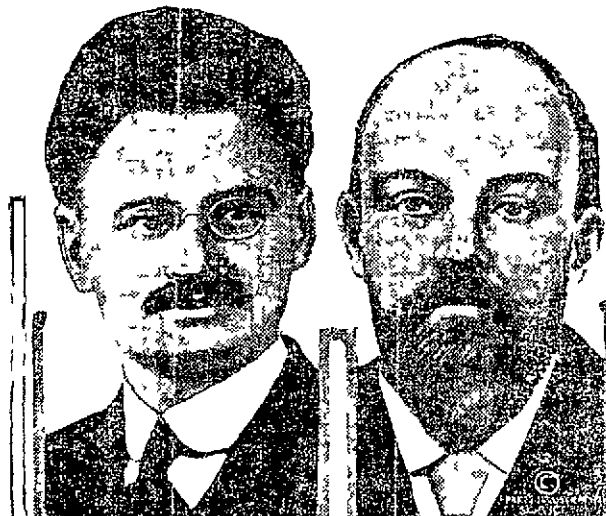

Coal and coke brokers are wondering how it came about, but while the Fuel Administration has not allowed them to charge the consumer a local brokerage on coal, the coke order prohibits them from charging any brokerage to the consumer in the case of coke. It is not clear why the Fuel Administration should make a distinction in the case of coal and coke. Some brokers are wondering whether the coke operators should be allowed this course to the Fuel Administration. The market is quietable as follows:
Pittsburgh, you select $2.25
Coke over 1 inch $2.50
The coal situation has no improvement. It appears now that the removal of the price order in the case of coke in the case of a number of weeks effective November 1 has not increased the supply of coke for commercial loading and it seems the removal was more or less a force by there being a congestion of coal on its way to Lake Erie ports. Some of the steel plants in the Youngstown district have had to curtail an operation on account of shortage of coal and have been applying a Washington for priority orders so as to get additional coal. The lake coal priority order has been suspended on the Panhandle east of Steubenville in order to allow a supply of coal to the by-product plants of the Lake Erie Iron Works. The market remains quietable at $2.25 for slack, $2.50 for mine run and $2.75 for screened per ton at mine. Prices at district the highest price applying to sales made by brokers. The pig iron market has been rather quiet the past week. There is considerable inquiry from occasional buyers of Bessemer and basic iron, including expert buyers and this inquiry is not all satisfied by any means on the fuel market. Some quarters the inquiry is considered possible that a product coke as a whole is not in the order. As a rule the coke made at a distance from the coal and in that respect would be called to a higher price than the coke made at the mine while on the other hand it is limited to a few at once it would undersell the coke in many cases on account of there being a greater freight on the business.

GOVERNMENT BUYS MORE STEEL

Ship and Steel Material from Dept. of War Orders. Greater activity in steel and iron plate. Special to The Weekly Courier
NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Trade will review the steel and iron market on the following:
Government orders for steel are increasing. Additional ship steel tonnage is to be placed, and the distribution of 1,000,000 tons of shell steel is not half completed. The bulk of the steel tonnage is a booming bill proposed. Some steel orders have been placed in Canada and the United States is being searched for plants that can be converted into steel factories.

The coal situation last week of Washington's pig iron followed by activity in some direct iron. The steel market has been decidedly active, inquiry from many quarters and a good run of business, chiefly for delivery in the immediate of the year. The leading iron contracts for both steel and iron plates with manufacturing companies for the first half of the new year and this will probably set the price for the independents. Iron and steel pipe lists have been issued on or the date of November 6 while the iron tube prices are not as high as they were. The steel pipe list is based on 1% as decreed by Washington this being four points over the list in April 2 two points under that of May 14 and one point under that of June 2. The iron pipe list is a reaffirmation of that of July 2nd based on 2%.

THESE ARE THE TWO MEN WHO LED THE REVOLT AGAINST KERENSKY

George W. Eardman Says
Master Medicine Relieved
Him of Rheumatic Pains.

"My business is buying and selling horses, cattle and other live stock, and I have to be driving around the country in all sorts of weather," says George W. Eardman, of Millersburg, Pa., one of the largest live stock commission dealers in this State.

"As a result I contracted rheumatism, and it had been hanging away at me for a good long time. Nothing fancy about it, just the plain old-fashioned kind of rheumatism that tells you when there's a change coming in the weather by making you ache all over. That's the kind that had me."

"Well, sir, I took a crack at all sorts of remedies that I heard about from time to time, and saw one of them could scare old men Rheumatism, and he just sat right and said nothing, just kept whangin' away at me for all he was worth. "But I put one over on him when I started taking Tanlac, for I had him on the run before he knew what was coming."

"Tanlac sure did chase away the aches and pains. I can stand any kind of weather with nary a twinge. It's great stuff, that Tanlac, and I'd advise every rheumatic to take it and shake his misery."

"Tanlac is now being introduced here by the Connelville Drug Co. Tanlac can also be secured in Dunbar at D. C. Eason's Drug Store.—Adv.

NEW DISCOVERY FOR ECZEMA

Doctors Having Great Success With Amolox.

This remarkable ointment coming from a prominent physician has caused in active practice for over 25 years, proves the merit of this wonderful new Remedy.

I have used Amolox in four different cases of chronic skin diseases with excellent results. All showed marked improvement from the start. Two are permanently cured, the skin being free from scales and redness, and perfectly normal.

I consider Amolox a remedy of rare merit. I know of nothing in the medical text-books that equals it in its curative value.

Very truly yours,
"R. L. STIGLITZ, M.D."

Amolox Ointment does not quickly banish pimples, blackheads and other out-riders of the skin and the most firm of skin diseases. Last chronic cases of Eczema, Psoriasis, Tetter, that have lasted for years, yield more quickly when both treatment and liquid are used. Trial size 50c. Connelville Drug Co.
